General

An FEI rider, trainer and clinician, Brad also imports horses from Sweden and Holland through his dressage facility, Landmark Farms. His approach to training, emphasizing softness and suppleness has been developed in over 20 years of training with some of the world's leading dressage riders and trainers.

Interested in horses at an early age, Brad's formal training began at age 14 with the four-time British Olympic dressage coach Robert Hall. His training continued with dressage experts Kyra Kyrklund, Belinda Nairn and Carol Olford Grant. Through these and other talented trainers, his skills and theories continue to develop.

Brad's expertise in adapting training methods while holding principles constant has enabled him to achieve success with a wide variety of horses and riders. His skill in uncovering the basis of problems and treating horses as individuals enables him to formulate training strategies for his students that keep them progressing between clinics. Sound theories, realistic application and a true love for the art of dressage has made him a popular clinician and trainer.

Training History

Kyra Kyrklund 1995-Present

An internationally renowned rider and trainer, Kyra was the head trainer at Flyinge, the National Stud of Sweden. She is currently training and riding in England. Participation in six consecutive Olympics has earned Kyra an individual silver medal. Kyra also has numerous international titles including a World Cup Championship to her credit. Her vast repertoire of training ideas and sensitive practical approaches qualify her as one of the top Grand Prix trainers in the world.

Work with Kyra emphasizes the systematic approach to training horses including applying the basics to FEI movements and adding brilliance through relaxation. Focus is also placed on improving teaching techniques, especially on breaking down the training process and preparing students to identify and correct problems encountered while training on their own.

Carol Olford Grant 1994- Present

Carol has been an FEI rider and trainer for over thirty years. She was a member of the 1984 United States Olympic team, participated in several Olympic festivals and won numerous national titles.

Carol's approach to training is based on the biomechanics of the horse and rider. She emphasizes the influence of the rider's seat and position have on the horse's self-carriage. The use of forward motion to build impulsion, suppleness and collection is also stressed.

Belinda Nairn 1981-1994

Based out of her farm, Inspo International, Belinda is an Olympic rider and trainer. Belinda is well known for her ability to turn young horses into lasting Grand Prix competitors. Her many accomplishments include winning numerous international and national titles. Belinda was a member of the US bronze medal Olympic team in Los Angeles and Seoul.

Belinda's training emphasizes horses' performance including how to demand the best while instilling confidence. Focus is also placed on the process of logically solving problems encountered when training a horse from green broke to Grand Prix.

Robert Hall 1979-1981

A four time British Olympic coach, Robert has also trained several International Grand Prix horses including two Olympic mounts.

Based on his studies at the Spanish Riding school Robert teaches classical equitation to riders of all disciplines at his farm, Fulmer International.

Training with Robert provided Brad with the opportunity to study classical equitation and to ride International-level FEI horses. Emphasis was placed on the relationship between the rider's equitation and the horse's performance.
